Mohd Nazrul Izam Mansor, FGV's Group Chief Executive Officer said that the successful negotiations of all 12 CAs, amidst COVID-19 challenges, demonstrate strong commitments and commendable industrial relations between all parties.

“FGV is blessed with over 40,000 employees including workers who are covered under the unions, whom we recognise as the backbone of the company. The agreements forge a better understanding between the employers and the employees, thus encouraging better cooperation and support to achieve FGV’s aspiration to become a world-class agribusiness and food company,” said Mohd Nazrul.

The signing between the respective subsidiaries’ Chief Executive Officers and the Head of Unions took place at the Royale Chulan Hotel here in the presence of Mohd Nazrul and Khalid Jali, Director-General of Industrial Relations Department, Human Resources Ministry.

Mohd Nazrul said in the midst of various challenges affecting the palm and its related industries over the past few years, unions and Management should work together to protect the Group and support each other to ensure continued success.

“We should keep a positive attitude and do our best to carry out our duties every day. We should all be aware of our roles in the company and how to best contribute to the business. In doing so, unions can play a big role in increasing the awareness on our commitment towards Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG), the guiding principles towards sustaining the company responsibly," he added.
